Spring term 1: issue 5

We have had another very busy week at Shenley!

On Monday, the High Sheriff of Hertfordshire visited us and led a very informative assembly. We learnt all about the history of the High Sheriff, his current role and the charity work he does. The School Council met with him after to share the brilliant work they are doing to support our school. The High Sheriff commented on the outstanding behaviour from all children on the day - well done Shenley stars!

Have a fantastic weekend!

'I wish my teacher knew' boxes

We have introduced

'I wish my teacher knew...' boxes to each classroom.

The boxes are a helpful tool that allow students to share thoughts, feelings, concerns or exciting news. They were shared with children today in assembly and teachers will be talking to children in their classes about them and how they can be used.

Policies

We have updated 4 school policies:

Attendance Policy

Anti-Bullying Policy

Behaviour Policy

Exclusion Policy

They can be found on our school website:

<https://www.shenleyprimary.co.uk/policies>

The poster features the Parish of Aldenham logo on both sides. The central title is "Coffee Morning for SEND parents". Below the title is a diagram of a brain with a sad face, surrounded by eight thought bubbles connected by arrows. The bubbles contain the following text: "Uncertainty", "Social situations or navigating relationships", "Difficulty identifying & understanding emotions", "Feeling misunderstood", "Unfamiliar places or situations", "Change in routine", "Sensory overload", and "Social situations or navigating relationships".

Come along and join us for a chat!
